THE PRESIDENT.

MR. CLEVELAND IS DECIDEDLY

Worse Than at First Reported Fears that the Message May be Delayed—What His Secretary Says.

desociated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A Washington special to the World says that the President has been and says that the sicker man than the administration would have the public believe. His condition is not alarming, but it is a fact that a severe atalarming, but it is a fact that a severe at-tack of rheumatic gout which followed the sprain of his left airkle practically inca-pacitated him for work on his message. During the last three days President Cleveland has suffered much pain from his swellen leg, and to obtain relief has re-mained in bed much of the time. Dr. O'Reilly, it is said, expects that the Presi-dent will be able to move about and prob-ably come to this city in a few days. The Precident has been unable to do much writ-Precident has been unable to do much writing, and the fact that his message is far from complete, is said; to have given him much uneasiness. It is possible that the message will not be transmitted to Congress on the usual day.

FROM HIS PRIVATE SECRETARY. WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—In view of the circulation of rumors to the effect that the ondition of the President is much worse condition of the President is much worse than has been reported, his private secre-tary was today asked for a statement of the facts. In response he said that the President has been suffering from an acute attack of rheumatism, or rheumatic gout. He has been subject to these attacks for reason past and this is by an opens, more

For a couple of days he was confined to his bed, but he has passed the most violent stage of his malady, and although still suffering, is working on his message which he is writing himself, and is making such progress that it will be ready to deliver to Congress on the first day of the session, unless something unforeseen occurs. He does not occupy a gouty couch, but sits in an easy chair, with his afflicted limb lying on a cushion, and lies down at intervals when the limb becomes painful. His condition is steadily improving, and it is said he will be able to get about in a few days.

Gov. Tillman's Message to the South Carolina Legislature.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.
COLUMBIA (S. C.,) Nov. 28.—On the COLUMBIA (S. C.,) Nov. 28.—On the opening of the two houses of the Legislature today Gov. Tillman's message was read. At read like other of his documents, full of ginger. He recounts the history of the Darlington dispensary riots, defending his course, charging the riots as the outcome of the conspiracy of whisky men. It denounced the milital in refusing to obey orders and advised the repodeting of the military system and laws, giving the commander-in-chief power to disband companies at will.

The Governor charges that Judge Goff of the United States Court purposely delays the decision as to the title thereof until after the expiration of the term of Governor, so as to require proceedings to be begun answ.

Stories of Horrible Slaughter by the Japanese at Port Arthur-Still Another Battle Reported. In Manchuria.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.-China succumbed to the inevitable and has sued for peace, and her proposal will be presented to Japan through the United States Ministers at Peking and Tokio, thus promising a termination of the war as the re-sult, in part at least, of the exercises of the good offices of the United States. It is not possible at this time to learn the terms of China's proposition as handed to Minister Denby, but it is probable that it provides for but two concessions, a money indemnity and a relinquishment of suzerainty over Kores It is improbable that the first tender will be accepted by Japan, as such overtures are rarely accepted, but this propo-sition will open the way to a counter offer of terms by Japan through Mincessful and if they follow the usual course will lead first to a truce under prope guarantee, or a preliminary agreemen to cease hostilities and finally to the signature to a definite treaty of peace. Just how this proposition was brought about is not known yet. It is probable, however, that, as the matter is in the hands of the American Ministers in China and Japan, the visit of Mr. Detring, Commissioner of Maritime Affairs at Tien-Tsin, to Japan, is to be directly connected with the peace negotiations as has been to negotiate for peace on behalf of the

Li Hung Chang to the Mikado.

Among the passengers with Detring are three Chinese dignitaries who are suppose to be princes, but the peace envoy alone landed. The Japanese are not inclined to open negotiations with Detring unless he is vested with full power to act. The ex tent of his power is at present unknown.

LI HUNG CHANG IMPEACHED. LONDON, Nov. 28.—According to dispatches from Sharghai a sensation was caused by a memorial to the throne signed over 120 high officials impeaching Li Hung Chang, and charging him with corruption, peculations and deception. The memorial also says that Li Hung Chang rejoiced at the Japanese victories and pre-vented the Chinese achieving success. He is said to have represented that China was prepared for war when he knew that he contrary was the case.

Li Hung Chang is also said to be im-blicated with Prince Kung, the Emperor's uncle and president of the admiralty, who was recently appointed dictator, and with Taotai-Wu and the commander of Chinese forces at Port Arthur. These officials being accused of high treason and of selling state secrets and war material to the enemy. They were further charged with investing money in Japan, harboring treasonable designs against the Chinese empire, and conspiring to proquire the overthrow of China. CHEMULPO (Korea,) Nov. 28.—(By As-iatic Cable.) The storming of Chin-Lien-Chong castle on the other side of the Ya-Loo River by Field Marshal Ya-magata's army does not mean that the Japanese army intends to march on into the heart of Manchuria and fall into the winter trap outlined in a previous dis-patch from the front. The fortress was too close to the Ya-Loo to be left in the hands of the Chinese and would have been a continual menace to the winter camp of the Japanese on the frontier. The Japanese have no intention of mov-tres arainst Moukden, knowing that the ing against Moukden, knowing that the capture of the ancient Manchurian capital would not affect the main line of the war and would arouse the suspicion and bitter opposition of Russia.

The London Silver Market. LONDON, Nov. 28.—The silver market is in a state of collapse. The quotation on bar silver today is 28%d., which shows a decline of %d. from yesterday's closing. The cause of the recent fall and weakness is the reported large Japanese purchases of war material, for which Japan is said to be creating bills on the East, thus diminishing other forms of remitting.

VALPARAISO (Ind.) Nov. 28.—Residents of the little town of Hebron have been greatly excited for the past week over the appearance of a man giving his name as George Little of Chicago. He arrived in that town with a team of horses everal days ago. He put his team up at the hotel livery stable, and made it known to the proprietor that he was one of the wealthiest men in Chicago. The next morning he made arrangements to buy ten large farms. After finding several that suited him he went to all the implement stores and purchased every plow, cultivator, and in fact everything else that is used on a farm, representing that he was rich and would settle all bills later on. After making eetite all bills later on. After making bargains for the tools he sent a man from Jasper county and ordered 250 head of horses and 400 sieers from Welson Morris. Up to to this time he was thought to be all right; but when he went to a milliner store and ordered two silk dresses for hi horses he was thought to be demented Then, when he was questioned, it was found that he was once worth $50,000 in Chicago real estate, but was swindled out of it, which caused him to become crasy.

After the authorities found that he was crazy they sent him out of town. He left the village late last night with a mule cart and a bushel bag filled with compon house cats, bound for Chicago. He could not take his horses, as he had no money with which to pay his hotel bill.

Delegate Frank Cannon of Utah, for the majority of the Resolutions Committee, opened the opposition declaring his belief that such a proposition could only agravate the ills of the farmer and only increase the responsibility of the govern-ment. ### THE MOSQUITO BUZZ

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.-The annual Nicaragua's Claims Rejected report of the Secretary of Agriculture is particularly interesting because of its reference to current troubles with foreign by Britain.

Ambassador Bayard Has Been In-structed to Inquire into the Matter.

governments over the subject of four agri-cultural exports, especially those to Great Britain. That country paid during the year 1893 for American breadstuffs, pro-visions, cotton and tobacco, over $324,000,-The Contention that the Refusal to Recognize Micaragua's Jurisdic-tion is in the Indian's In-year 1893 for American breadstuffs, provisions, cotton and tobacco, over $324,000,000.

Of dressed beef, Great Britain took from us during the first six months of the year 1894, $10,000,000 worth. Australia is our chief competitor for the trade.

Referring to the frequent allegations on the part of the European governments that live animals from the United States are diseased, the Secretary expresses the opinion these allegations are sometimes based on fear of infection, but are at other times made for economic reasons. He suggests that if certain European nations continue to insist on microscopical examinations of our pork and veterinary inspection of our beef with governmental certification to each, the United States government might as well insist upon such inspection and certification by such foreign governments of all importations therefrom, whether edible or beverages intended for human consumption.

The review of the market leads him to certain conclusions as to the future of our export trade in agricultural products as follows:

"Russia, Argentina, Australia and other countries favored by conditions which enable them to grow wheat at a small cost and especially by the proximity of their wheat-growing regions to water communications, warms American farmers to no longer depend upon wheat as a staple export crop. On the other hand, a great market, at fair prices is to be found in the United Kingdom for barley and cornowing to the great variety of uses to which they may be applied, promises to be in constant and increasing demand.

With reference to the Weather Bureau, the Secretary shows that by heeding the admonitions of thestoureau relative to the great tropical storm of September, 1894, vessels valued at over $17,000,000 were kept in port owing to the bureau's warning. Moreover, many human lives were preserved. WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Before taking further action on the new Bluedelds trouble the State Department will wait to hear from Ambassador Bayard, who has been charged to inquire into the matter at Lon-

While the state of affairs at Bluefields, as it has been reported to the State Department, is certainly grave, it is by no means impossible that it will admit of an explanation by the British government that will east a new light on the matter. At any rate, there is no possible foundation for a war scare at this time, for it is improbable that the British officers in Nicaragua would cursus a course likely to aragua would pursue a course likely to lead to a hostile clash with the com-mander of the U.S.S. Columbia, which vessel, having sailed from Kingston yes-terday, should arrive off Bluefields tomor-vessel, having salled from Kingston yesterday, should arrive off Bluefields tomorrow.

But, from the statement of events made by the Nioaraguan government, it is to be apprehensed that the whole subject of the British claim of a protectorate over the Mosquito reservation must be reopened and a diplomatic warfare must be conducted by Mr. Bayard with the British Foreign Office, and meanwhile affairs at Bluefields will remain in statu quo.

The United States has never recognized the British claim of a protectorate over the Mosquito reservation, though, after all, the whole case may turn on this point. But, walving for the time being the settlement of this contention, and tactity recognising the protectorate, the position of the United States is that, in guaranteeing the Mosquito Indians the right to maintain their own form of government and law, Great Britain would not extend this sway over Nicaraguans and the people of other mailons, and in fact could not do more than provide for the continuance of old tribel relations, which the very few Indians remaining at Bluefields themselves abandoned.

Thus far the United States has sided with Nicaragua in her claims and has even oben instrumental in bringing about the establishment of the existing satisfactory government at Bluefields, and it may be fairly presumed in the light of Mr. Bayard's instructions, that this country may continue firm in Exposition. It is not believed here that British action, pending negotiations, will go further than the formal redusal to recognize the Bluefields government and perhaps a refusal of British merchants to pay customs ducles and taxes to the Nicaraguan officials there.

Meanwhile, no United States war-vessels, save the Columbia have hean annual fusal of British merchants to pay cus-toms ducles and taxes to the Nicaraguan officials there.

Meanwhile, no United States war-ves-sels, save the Columbia, have been sent to Bluefields and according to Acting Secretary Meadoo, no more will be sent at present. There is no intention to con-duct extensive feet maneuvers in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico this winter, which would necessitate the assembling of a considerable number of vessels there and this plan will ultimately be carried out.

'Information has come to me within the past few days from the most reliable sources, from gentlemen of integrity, who speak from actual observation, that the suffering among farmers in the drought-stricken districts of our State is exceedingly severe. Families are on the vergs of starvation; mothers have nothing in which to wrap their babes and have no clothlong for themselves except dresses made from gunny sacking; underwear and shoes are almost unknown and fuel is a luxury not to be dreamed of.

I am fully aware that there is a great deal of suffering among our own people, but I believe that our citizens should make a special effort to extend all possible assistance to the suffering in our State outside the city. It would be a fitting manner of giving thanks for the blessings we have received for our citizens to contribute towards relieving the sufferings of these people. What is needed is Secretary Smith does not request the troops, as asked by the Governor. It is learned at the Indian office that, about three years ago, there was an agreement with the Indians, which was never ratified by Congress, and in it was a provision that the Utes could visit the Ban Juan country every year. They have been doing so, and now have been two months in that country. Commissioner Browning says the lands are public, and the Indians have as much right there as the whites.

NO APPREHENSION OF TROUBLE.

DENVER (Colo.) Nov. 28.—Dispatches from Durange and vicinity indicate that the Ute Indians have again become discontented and are threatening to make a raid into Utah, and that the settlers in the neighborhood are considerably alarmed, as there are but a few of them, and ther would be unable to cope with the Indians in case they have gone with hostile intentions. Those who are acquainted with the Southern Utes do not believe that they have any intention of committing depredations, and think the reports of the trouble are exaggerated.

At Durango there is located a company of the National Guard, which has done good service in acting as a check on the Indians, but it is stated that they cannot be used on this occasion unless the President of the United States should first call upon them. All State troops are under the orders of the Presidents and their services could be used if required. Adit. Gen. Taraney has as yet received no official notice of the alleged raid, but is serious.

Agant Day made this statement tonight:

"Indians have always wintered their stock in Utah. They have been in the Blue Mountains since October, and they are there with their families and ponies, and are well behaved. Cowboys protested, but as San Juan county, Utah, has been withheld from sottlement since 1888, they are the tree-passers. Chiefs Ignacio and Marini are with the Indians, and, as the whites have robbed the Ute reservation of forage, one would hardly expect them to allow their ponies to starve. There will be no trouble unless the cowboys precipitate it."

some new developments in regard to thi San Francisco postoffice imbroglio. Chair-man Sayers of the House Committee or man Sayers of the House Committee on Appropriations stated to members of the committee that when Congress met he would introduce a resolution in which there would be a provise that two engineers of the army go to San Francisco and make a thorough investigation of the site. In making this statement, Chairman Sayers said that there had been frequent charges that it would be a reckless expenditure of money to begin work on this building, because a good foundation could not be laid on the site.

The Supervising Architect's office, Chairman Sayers said, desired to send an expert from the Treasury Department to make this investigation. The chairman of the Appropriation Committee said that he did not consider this a feasible plan, as the matter now had reached that point where no further mistakes could be afforded to be made by anyone connected with the case. He would present a resolution providing the investigation be made by engineers and that a sufficient sum of money be appropriated at once by Congress to pay their expenses.

The acting supervising architect of the Treasury Department also stated that there had been renewed charges made regarding the foundation and, until an investigation by some one in authority, the department would not advertise for bids for excavation and the building of a foundation. He said that, owing to the renewal of the charges against the site, the Treasury Department did not care to take the responsibility of faviting bids or in expending any money whatever except in the line of finding out whether it was fit to build a foundation upon or not. During all of last session, Chairman Bankhead of the Committee on Public Grounds and Buildings, blustered a great deal about the proposed Congressional investigation of the site, but accomplished nothing whatever.

RAIDED A STORE.

SOUTH M'ALLISTER (I. T.,) Nov. 28.—
Three robbers, heavily armed, headed by Jim French, of the Cook gang, arrived at Choctaw at 7:20 o'clock tonight, and held up and robbed a store full of men, taking all the cash in sight and coolly helping themselves to tobacco, blankets, etc., and drove away.

The robbery occurred at the general merchandise store of Lafayette Bros. One of the robbers stood on guard while French and the others fied. The clerks and customers present, numbering, nine people, were arranged in line. French demanded of the cashler that he open the safe. Luckily it had a time lock on it. French then helped himself to what hoose cash he could find, 335, and in an extremely cool and deliberate manner, selected what blankets, tobacco, groceries, etc., he cared for. French had said he would shoot the first man that moved, and his word was sufficient to turn the corralled mine into statues. Having secured all in sight they wanted, the bandits with a second admonition to the inmates of the store not to follow, mounted their horses and rode away rapidly in a southerly direction.

A hold-up is expected at Bond, a few miles from here. The news was received at Muskogee in time to put twenty-two guards on the south-bound train. United States Judge Stewart and Marshal McAllister are also aboard, having positive orders to shoot till the lastman falls. If the train is held up there promises to be a fight.

Close by to the south was the boatchouse of H. H. Alger, built partly on the made land and partly on piles. This turned over completely. The strip of land which slid into the bay was from 250 to 300 yards long and from 60 to 70 feet wide.

Watte of Colorado and Shinn of Kan-sas, who entered into a full discussion of the attitude of the Republican and Demo-cratile parties toward silver. Judge Dean of Colorado talked on the political condi-tion and necessities and strongly advo-cated the formation of a new party.

The committee of seven appointed to draft a plan upon which the advocates of bimetallism could proceed, submitted its report. This was the subject of a lengthy debate and resulted in the adoption of the following declaration and resolutions:

"It is an indisputable fact that pendence and segroom the entire producing and fabor population of the country and will, if not arrested, undermine the foundation of civil liberty.

"When, therefore, the far-reaching and yet immeasurable consequences to the civilized world of this change in the money standard are considered, a change clandestinely begun, the results of a conspiracy of the non-producing banking and bondholding standard are considered, a change clandestinely begun, the results of a conspiracy of the non-producing banking and bondholding classes, under the hypocritical prefense of honest money, just then enormously increased by unfortunate wars, and to enable the conspirators, their aiders and abettors to command the products of life, and labor at a lower rate than open facts or openhanded justice would permit—when these facts and their effect upon mankind are considered, and the records of the last quarter of the inteteenth century are made up, this change in the money standard must stand as among the most monstrous of public crimes in the history of the shuman race.

"Nor is the end yet. The appraciation of trous of public crimes in the history of the shuman race.

"Nor is the end yet. The appreciation of gold and the fall of prices, under existing conditions, must go on indefinitely as population, increases and the gold standard is extended to still other countries. There is no remedy for the evils attending this condition of things but to remove the cause. The proposition, therefore, to cure existing evils that are world-wide and restore prosperity to the people by changing the tariff schedules is so puerile as to merit only contempt. Nor can the gold standard be mainfained by issuing bonds and borrowing gold, and we denounce the issue of bonds in time of peace, and for the purpose for which they are being issued as not only without authority of law, but utterly defenceiess as public policy, and we call upon Congress to immediately put a stop to this lawless and reckless use of the public credit. The Gracie H. Benson Collides with Steamer Beading.

BOSTON, Nov. 28.-The fishing schooner Gracie H. Benson was sunk in collision with the steamer Reading of the Phila delphia and Reading line, at the entrance to Boston Harber, early today. Six of the Benson's crew were drowned.

The schooner arrived yesterday with a full cargo of fish, and, after unloading, sailed at midnight for Provincetown. Capt. John Harvender, one of the rescued, says: "When about half way from Boston light and Bug light the steamer Reading with the barge Suffolk in tow loomed up before us. We endeavored to back to get across the steamer's bow and out of danger, but she showed no signs of slowing up and crashed into the port side just abaft the main, rigging. Our vessel filled and sank in less than two minutes."

The Reading lowered boats and picked up several of the Benson's crew who were clinging to the rigging. Capt. Reed of the Reading says that the collision was unavoidable. The names of the drowned area.

All over this great land today, from the far shores of the Atlantic to the sun-kissed waters of the greater Pacific, this nation—an empire encom passing a continent, unites in the cele bration of this day as one of thanks giving to that Providence who directs not only the affairs of individuals, but of nations.

The origin of the day we all know. for it is as old almost as the nation itself. American civilization was in its infancy when the day was estab-Its life was surrounded by Drought and famine and savage foes threatened it at times, but from them all it was delivered, and our forefathers recognized in this deverance an overruling Providence to shom their hearts went out in full thanksgiving. It was not a day devoted alone to feasting and family reunions, but it was also a day of re ligious observances, when public thanks were rendered for the blessings enjoyed by them as a people. Planted in this new world-wilderness, this young nation had stout struggles to maintain itself, but who can doubt that this cradle of human liberty was heaven-watched and guarded. Our American forefathers were great men, men of strong purose, of unwavering faith-giants in their love of liberty and individual freedom. They planted that we might reap, and that all future generations might enjoy the blessings of free gov ernment and the liberty to worship God after the dictates of their own

We have grown to be a mighty peo ple, rich in achievement, great in out unparalleled prosperity, foremost in inventions, proud of our scientific dis-coveries, wealthy in manufactures, opulent in our agricultural resources and unsurpassed by any other peoples in all those essentials which are nec essary for growth and permanence

We have reason for 'thanksgiving today in all this, and added reason for thankfulness in that we see the beginnings of the restoration to supremacy in our government of tha which best represents the principles upon which the government was The whole history of our national life since the foundation o the Republican party shows that party to be the party of progress, and perity. It is the party which rent the shackles from a race of slaves and gave them their heritage of manhood which preserved the life of the nation when it was assailed by treason industries and filled the poor man's dinner pail with plenty; which kept the wheels of our industries astir; reduced our public debt, and insured for us th marvelous growth and prosperity which, until the past two years of Democratic rule, has been ours since the war, making us the marvel and the wonder of the nations.

The past two years have been period of stern tuition to the American people, but we have reason for thanks giving that they have learned, and profited, by the lesson which has been taught them, and are ready to turn away from the husks of a free-trade policy and its deceitful allurements, to those principles upon which our prosperity has been built, and upon our future success must be based.

And especially have we reason to be thankful that while other nations have been disturbed by wars and rev olutions, have been visited by deadly epidemics and life-destroying earthquakes, we have been free from these isitations. It is true that we have experienced some ills, among which was the great strike which for a time paralyzed the industries of the whole country, bringing an aftermath of crime and suffering that is deplorable. But this very strike proved the strength of our government, and showed us the power that is hidden in its restraining arm. It also called public attention to the ds of labor and the necessity for devising means for the amelioration of its wants, while it indirectly de clared that the American people could never be subdued by wrong or out-rage, and that all just laws must be d; that Labor, no more than tal, can set itself up as Dictator. That the union laborer must be suf ject to law as well as the non-union an, and that two wrongs can

Out of all this, we thankfully be lieve, good will come, and the best principles of American government will be emphasized and adopted by the people. We shall continue to be this story was foolish enough to mention the name of another party who was present, and that party has in denied that Mr. Hazard was there. It appears, further, that the person who circulated this falsehood has a grudge against Mr. Hazard, be cause he was removed from the police force, for good reasons, while Mr. Hazard was Mayor.

Notwithstanding the complete-denial story does not rest entirely upon him-self. The person who first circulated which has been given to this story, the local organ of the A.P.A. continues to print it, and the members of that organization whisper it as a fact of the greatest importance, which is ing solidly against a man who most of them admit would make a much better mayor than either of his oppo nents, and against whom they urge nothing except the absurd story above

It is on such a flimsy foundation as this that the sectarian fight against Mr. Hazard is being waged. How can any independent citizen vote for a man who depends for support upon such unreasonable and un-American meth ods? Let Mr. Rader have his A.P.A. votes and Mr. Ryan his church vote That is about all they should receive The man who votes for either of those candidates is practically indorsing the introduction into our municipal politics of a religious controversy which is feeling should it be allowed to continue much longer.

Meantime, the A.P.A. still sticks to the lie about Mr. Hazard, and the panquet, at which he was not present.

RADER'S SHARP PRACTICE.

That was a very neat scheme of Frank Rader's, by which he secured an appointment on the commission to sess the cost and damages in the matter of the opening and extension of Broadway, as detailed in another olumn of this issue. By transferring his property on the street to his busiess partner; Mr. Rader became technically eligible to an appointment on the commission, and received for his services the sum of $400, or a net profit of $318.90, over and above the amount of the assessment against the property be had transferred. After mmission had concluded its work Mr. Rader's business partner accom-modatingly retransferred the property o Mr. Rader.

Now, does any intelligent man b lieve that these transfers were made n good faith? Is not the prima facil evidence almost or quite conclusive that both transfers were spurious, and vere a mere makeshift to enable Mr. Rader to serve as one of the commis sioners to assess, upon his own prop erty, the cost of a public improvement? No other interpretation of eems plausible or possible:

The spirit if not the letter of the aw was plainly violated by Mr. Rader in this affair. It was a piece of sharp practice such as no man with fine ense of honor would have resorted to under any circumstances. While Mr. Rader may have been guilty of no violation of law such as would be actionable in court, he was certainly guilty of a gross moral wrong in this

Are the voters of Los Angeles prepared to confer the highest honor within their gift upon a man who could resort to so mean a subterfuge in order to evade the plain and proper provisions of the law which forbids a property-owner to sit in adjudication of questions involving his own property? Is it safe to place the affairs of the city in the hands of such a man? These questions should receive an emphatic negative answer at the polls next Monday.

EFFECT OF THE DEMOCRATIC TARIFF POLICY.

One of the chief boasts of the free traders when they were arguing in favor of the Wilson tariff bill was that it would effect a great saving to conumers, especially in the case of clothing. Whenever they were charged with a conspiracy to ruin the wool industry they always replied that while the removal of the duty might hurt a "few sheep men" this loss would be far more than compensated by the saving which so many millions of people would make in the cost of their cloth ing. To hear them talk, one would imagine that the cost of clothing was going to be cut down about half if not more. But how has it been, If there has been any marked reduction in the cost of woolen clothes we of this sec tion, at least, do not know much about it. Of course we know that $10 suits are selling at $8.50, and $15 suits at $12.50, and $20 suits at $15. But then they have been selling that way for years, and were selling thus while the Republicans were in power. Commenting upon this subject, the American Cultivator says:

"Consumers of cloths will derive but ittle benefit from the reduction of the tariff on wool to a free-trade basis. Any idea of this kind is an illusion. It will make a difference of not over $1.50 to $2, at the outside, in a suit of $1.50 to $2, at the outside, in a suit of clothes costing $15 and upward. Free wool may be of some benefit to manufacturers, in opening to them the markets of the world and thus giving them a greater latitude of selection, but so, far as the final purchaser of the manufactured product is concerned, little or no benefit will be derived."

If other products upon which the duty has been removed or lowered by the Wilson bill were looked into it would be found that the Democratic policy has acted in the same manner as in the case of wool, while thousands of Americans who are engaged in raising or manufacturing these prodducts have been thrown out of work, and millions who consumed them have not been benefited to any appreciable extent. Those having gained or expecting to gain by the Wilson bill are the foreign manufacturers and producers who will pocket the difference, or early all the difference that is made

y the Wilson bill. This is what has been claimed the Republicans all along, and the people who had any doubts on the subpeople who had any doubts un the find ject will now have a chance to find out that the Republicans were right. out that the Republicans were right.

The Wilson tariff bill was a gross plece of folly, and it will take the country some time to recover from it. Probably the people of the United tates will hesitate a little longer be fore they vote again for "a change" when they are well off.

Bourke Cockran is quoted in a recent nterview as having said: "Nor can it be pretended that any feature of Republican policy has been (in the elections) approved by the peo-ple. Neither in the heat of the canvass nor in the tunult of success has any Republican statesman advocated a re-vival of McKinleyism. It is safe, thereore, to assume that the day of pro-ibitive protection has passed away

It is not at all likely that the Re publican party, when it again comes into tull control of the government, will re-enact the McKinley law, paragraph for paragraph, or schedule for The McKinley law is believed by Republicans, generally, to been the best tariff act that ever had a place upon the statute books of the nation. But it does not follow that the McKinley act cannot be improved upon, in the light of later ex-perience and better knowledge of the eeds of American industry. The recent verdict at the polls was an em verdict for tariff protection, and an equally emphatic condemna tion of free trade. The new Republican tariff will be constructed in obedience to this mandate. The best features of the McKinley law will be red, and such defects as it contained will be remedied.

Mr. Hazard has clearly shown that he City Attorney is in error as to some of the material facts at issue in the Spilman controversy. Reasoning from incorrect premises, the conclufrom incorrect premises, the conclu-sions reached by Mr. McFarland must necessarily be incorrect. Southern newspapers are urging the establishment of cotton mills in the outh, so as to manufacture the cotton close to where it is produced. The idea is a good one. But our Southern friends—and some Northern dough-faces—appear not to be aware of the fact that the attitude of the South in antagonism to protection has greatly retarded the establishment of cotton mills and other manufactories in that section. Cotton manufacturers cannot prosper in the United States without protection, and manufacturers natur ally shrink from establishing a busi ness in a section where the people are hostile to a principle which is so neces sary to success. When the South de clares for protection it can get all the cotton mills it wants.

The Rader organette, which pub lished City Attorney McFarland's statement in full (two or three days after it was submitted to the Council. announcing with a flourish that Mr. Hazard was "knocked out," has not the decency to publish Mr. Hazard's reply, in which he conclusively shows error as to some vital facts of the con-troversy. If the Rader organette had any sense of fairness, it would give Mr. Hazard's statement, and that of the City Engineer accompanying it, the same publicity which it gave to Mr McFarland's misstatement But the organette is never burdened with a sense of fairness.

The recent outrages in Armenia, by which several thousands of defenseless nien, women and children were brutally murdered, are a disgrace even to the barbarism which incited them. Under the treaty of Berlin, to which Russia, Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Austria and Turkey were parties, the Porte guaranteed the security of the Armenians against such atrocities. It is time for the signatory powers to unite in demanding the rigid enforcement of the terms of the treaty. The interests of humanity and civilization unite in demanding that action in this direction be taken without delay.

Sir Henry Wrixon of Victoria, Australia, is in this country studying the abor problem. In an interview the other day he paid the following trib-ute to the United States Supreme Court: "We recognize the Supreme Court of the United States as one of the greatest judicial institutions in the world. Its decisions command the greatest respect in every English court." Respect for our courts, from the Supreme Court down to the minor courts, must be inculcated at home, if we would have them continue to be respected abroad.

An Eastern paper is authority for the statement that ex-Governor For-aker is a candidate for the United States Senatorship from Ohio to succeed Brice, and that Gov. McKinley has been informed that he must favor Brice's candidacy or go to the next Republican national convention without a solid delegation from his own State behind him. If this statement be true, it shows an altogether impertinent obtrusion of the machine in ceed Calvin S. Brice in the Senate, if his ambition takes that form. But when his supporters attempt to co-erce Gov. McKinley they are attempt ing too much. Gov. McKinley could vention without the vote of a single delegate from Ohio, and could win the nomination, hands down, if the convention were to be held now. There is not likely to be a revolution of sentiment on this subject. If Gov McKinley is nominated in 1896; as now seems probable, he will be elected by a popular and electoral majority which will pulverize the esteemed Democracy more thoroughly than it was pulverized in the cataclysm of November 6, 1894.

ESTEE'S DEFEAT.

THE PART TAKEN BY THE PRO-HIBITIONISTS.

Ownership of a Vineyard a Worse Crime Than Moral Turpitude and Dishonor—Inquiries, About Los Angeles.

BERKELBY, Nov. 28.—(Staff Corre-pondence of The Times.) I have heard fir. Extec's defeat discussed not a tittle in this section, and I find that he small smount of the odium which rests upon california for electing Jimmy Budd for lovernor is attributed here to the action of many well-meaning but mistaken Proof the blind, and as a result of their action our Republican nominee fell into the ditph of defeat, and James H. Budd was exalted to fill the executive chair of this great State—a man whose name is abhorrent to all virtuous womanhood, and honest, self-respecting manhood everywhere. But we shall be compelled to bear this stigms of shame as best we may. Let the responsibility rest where at belongs. Let Prohibition's and Democrats rejoice together, if so they can, that they were the majority in this case, but let them not in this instance assert that there is truth in the call adage, "The voice of the people is the voice of God."

People hereabouts are making a good many inquintees in regard to the Industrial Exposition now being held in Los Angeles, and they want to know more about it. I find the belief very general that any enterprise that Los Angeles furthers must be of value, for Los Angeles furthers must be of value, for Los Angeles has gained a reputation for undertaking things on a large scale and pushing them on to success. Even San Francisco does not look with indifference upon the doings of her Southern sister, and in the hearts of her more enterprising citizens there turks the desire to emutate her push and vim, and to tree themselves of the incubus of apathy which is prevalent among many of her wealthy old-timers as regards modern innovalions, which give life to business. Beyond question San Francisco is still California to many of these old fogues, and they know little of, and care less, for the unfolding life and rith development of the great Southland of this empire State, and possibly some of them dream that the bark of the coyote is still heard amid its undistribed eagebrush, and that the nimble jackrabbit pursues its unhindered way everywhere across tenantless plains.

I actually met an intelligent woman, in San Francisco one day, the widow of an old ploneer, who has been a resident of the city for many years, and who told me that she aupposed that we had nothing down South but plain adobe buildings such as those constructed in the days of the Spanish occupation. But of counge this was exceptional ignorance, and the average San Franciscan knows us well enough to keep a watchful eye upon our advancement. He even goes so far as to consider now and then the remote possibility of this young siant of the South overtaking San Francisco in the race for municipal greatness unless she bestirs herself after a livelier fashion than she is at present doing.

The big football game which comes off Thanksgiving day looks a little dublous for the Berkeley boys, for five of the best men of the University taam are Fuffering from accidents which it is feared will disable them for the contest, so that the team will enter the contest in a crippled condition. This game, owing to the extreme lengths to which it is sometimes carried, is tosing somewhat of its popularity at the East, and I see it stated that the Army and Navy Departments have issued orders prohibiting football at Asapolis and West Point. As one watches a well contested and spirited game it seems a marvel, that more serious accidents do not occur.

George T. Clark, who has been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Vance Cheney, librarian of the San Francisco Free Public Library, is a brother of F. H. Clark, former spincipal of the Los Angles High school. He is a graduate of the University, class of '86.

"Annie Laurie" says that "Berkeley is the prettiest place o nearth at this time of year," and I do not much wonder at her enthusiasm, for her wonderfully beautisofthusiasm, for her wonderfully beautiful hills are green as rounded emeralds, and are crowned with their great caks and forests of eucalypti, which rise like a big green wall between the earth and the sky. Trees, trees, trees, are what we want in our Elysian Park, and on some of our barer hills. There is nothing that helps to perfect a landscape so much as a tree. Beecher was right when he exclaimed, "O, what a thought was that when God thought of a tree!" The trees and the hills and the sea, they are the glory and beauty of Berkeley, and they are supplemented by as charming homes as can be found anywhere in the State.

I see that yesterday's Chronicle contains an appreciative article on Los Angeles' poet and author Charles F. Lummis, formerly of The Times. He is steadily making his way to universal recognition, and taking his place in the front ranks of America's young writers. Los Angeles may well be proud of her adopted son.

There is every indication of rain here today, and it is needed, for vegetation has grown rapidly since the copious rains of late September and early October. The dread of a dry season, that nightmare of the Californian, has been upon us since the warm, mellow days of November have been so long continued, but we shall probably hear the merry patter of the rain-drops before night, and all will be well.

Pico Heights Cars Again.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—(To the Editor of The Times:) In some parts of the South it is the custom for the car-drivers, when the cleck strikes! It to promptly adjourn for dinner, leaving the passengers on the track, awaiting their return. This kind of thing may be tolerated in the South—in these parts where Northern enterprise and push has not appeared, where the festive colored urchin meanders, over the heated sidewalk by the hundred, and where Uncles Josh drives up with a mule attached to a wegon with pieces of cord, leather, catgur and rope, but this kind of thing won't do North. I was reminded of this antique state of facts while riding out on the Pico Heights car the other day. At every crossing from Third street south to Ninth one woman after another stopped the car and inquired whence it was going. There was no sign on the car to indicate this important fact, and the motorneer (I think they call him out here) innocently and politely stopped the car, full of people, te answer these various cuestions. The Southern arrangement came to my mind, and I asked myself which was the motor progressive method: The man's plan who left the passengers on the track while he went to his dinner, or the man who Pico Heights Cars Again

The second trial of the case against C. D. Platt, the jeweler, and Emil Harris, ex-captain of police, charged with having used the mails in pursuance of a conspiracy to extort blackmail from Eimer E. Crandail, a retired merchant of this city, was commenced before Judge Erakine M. Ross and a jury in the United States District Court vesterflay afternoon.

After a few preliminary questions had been put to the witness he was asked to relate the circumstances under which he first met the defendant, Platt, at Santa Monica.

Monica.

Senator White, on behalf of the defendant, Harris, thereupon offered a formal objection to all the evidence for the government, upon the ground that the indictment did not state facts sufficient to constitute an offense against the laws of the United States, stating that he was not prepared to argue the matter then, but would, with the permission of the court, do so at the close of the evidence for the prosecution. In explanation of this objection Senator White stated that the indictment assumed to charge a conspiracy on the part of the white stated that the indictment assumed to charge a conspiracy on the part of the defendants to misuse the mails, and the defendants contended that no such crime as that assumed in the indictment was known to the laws of the United States. Under the sections by virtue of which the indictment was drawn, a conspiracy to deraud could only be made an offense when, after its existence had been established, it was shown that the use of the mails was designed to carry it into effect, and where its execution depended upon the use of the mails. This, the defense contended, was not the case in this instance.

The objection, by consent, was understood to be aftered to all of the evidence of the mails. This, the defense contended, was not the case in this instance.

The objection, by consent, was understood to be offered to all of the evidence for the government, and Mr. Crandall thereupon was permitted to tell the story of his long siege of persecution at the hands of Platt, each interview being related in detail, and the various letters, anonymous and otherwise, which he had received on the subject being introduced in evidence, as he proceeded.

An effort was made by the defense to keep out the recital of the final interview in Crandall's room on the night of March 26 last, at which he gave Harris a check for $700, on the ground that this incident was long subsequent to the commission of the offense charged in the indictment, but the court oversuled the objection.

Upon cross-examination Mr. Gage, on behalf of the defendant, Harris, compelled Crandall to admit that he had always sought Harris in reference to the matter, and that the defendant visited him on the night of March 26 at his special request. It was also sought to show by the witness that the papers and photographs to which he had refeared da his testimony related to the trouble which he had been having with his wife, but Crandall was not to be caught napping, and stuck to his original story.

Generally fair weather prevailed, with occasional morning fogs, except in the extreme southern section, where they were general. No rain fell, and the continued absence of precipitation is being seriously felt; grass and pasture started by the early rains in September is beginning to dry up, and the ground in some places is getting too dry for plowing, though in many other sections dry plowing and seeding is being actively pushed. Plowing for the next sugar-beet crop is also being done. Detailed reports follow:

San Luis Obispo county—San Luis Obispo city: Grass is beginning to dry in elevated places; rain is needed, both for grass and crops. Early apple trees have their second crop for this year well advanced, and under favorable conditions will be ready for the table by Christmas. Highest temperature, 82 deg.: lowest, 35 deg. Musick: Warm days and cool nights have been the rule. Pasture is drying up, and the ground is now too dry for plowing.

Ventura county—Bardsdale: Occasional dry winds made it necessary to irrigate alfalfa and young orchards. All young grass started by the rain of September 30 is dried up, and stockmen are without feed. Dry plowing has generally commenced.

Qauliflower, young onlons, radishes, spinsich and beans are plentiful. Pasadena: The long hot spell broke on the 25th, and indications point to the much-needed rain. Extensive dry plowing and seeding is under way. Oranges are a fair crop, though seedlings are rather light. No froat to date. The temperature averaged 4 deg. lowest 37 deg. No rain and only one fog. Covina: The first part of the week was cool, with light fogs in the morning, the latter part dry and warm with some east wind. Rain is needed for plewing and to stop irrigation expense. The Pomona Times states that the orange crop of the Pomona Vailey is held to be of better quality than in previous years. The fruit is of more saleable size, there being but little of it overgrown. Perhaps less water has proved a boon in this matter.

J. T. Shewar 113-115 N. Spring St.

CTORE closed today. Fine canes free with a $5 purchase; they are worth from 50c to $3 each; you may take your choice; what is more suitable for a Christmas present than a cane? Every gentleman likes one; these canes will cost you nothing. One of the best bargains we have in the house is a lot of Jersey ribbed underwear for 333c and 50c; they are worth 50 per cent. more meney. Another fine bargain is a little lot of cotton and outing flannels. A small lot of prints and ginghams and a few odds and ends in the linen department; we are not considering the cost in these small lots, and they do not include our regular stock. This little lot of stuff is fully as good as our regular stock. It is the overstock only that we are cutting the prices on. We aim to state facts that will not tend to deceive. The cloak sales grow larger as the prices grow less. We have taken out 500 cloaks and have reduced the prices on a part of them 25 per cent; the larger part the reduction will be 331 per cent; one-quarter and one-third less than the regular prices, which are still left on the goods. Our cloak department has always held the reputation of selling goods upon a fair, square, legitimate basis. The $9 cloaks for $6; the $6 cloaks for $4; the $3 cloaks for $2; if you want a finer cloak you can buy the $15 cloaks for $10; the $30 cloaks for $20. Don't you think it will pay you to investigate the largest cloak department in the city; the most upright when it comes to prices and legitimate dealings. We are selling cloaks cheap right in the midst of the season; the proof of the pudding is in the eating. We have more than doubled the dress goods sale; we are selling all imported dress goods at a big reduction. Ordinarily we get our regular profits. The first day of January we will make a radical change in our business and are aiming to close out every dollar possible before that time; with this object in view we are selling a large quantity of dress goods for 75c a yard that have been selling from $1 to $2 a yard, all good staple styles, and the qualities are the best we have in the house; they are not the odds and ends and hard stock, but bright, clean, fresh goods. Remnants of silks and velvets suitable for making Christmas presents, at a big reduction from regular prices. More new kid gloves; not an old pair of kid gloves in the house; a very important item for glove buyers to consider. They are more elastic; they will wear better; they look better, and are better in every way. New side combs and hair ornaments.

«CHIOAGO, Nov. 28.—Wheat was not so weak when it opened today as it was at the close of the session yesterday. Foreign markets were firm, notwithstanding the decline of ic per bushel here. The reports from all parts of the winter wheat country were that the dry weather was beginning to have a damaging effect on the young plants. The opening for May wheat was from 59½ 659½, and that was the lowest it sold at during the day. It gradually worked up until it got around 60, and was playing between 60½ and 59½ during the greater part of the latter half of the session. The closing quotations were 59½ 660. Australia is added to the list of countries having a failure of its wheat crop this year, and, according to a London cablesram received near the close, there was but little wheat to export from Australia this year or next. ### THANKSGIVING DAY

When the People Rest from Their Labors.

Arrangements Made for the Feeding of the Deserving and Un-fortunate Poor.

The School Children Contribute Many on Loads of Provisions, Which Will be Handled Properly.

In accordance with custom and the produmation of the President of the United States and the Governor of California this is a legal holiday.

Ever since the Pilgrim flathers built log nuts and held rehigious services about Plymouth Rock the people of North America have found something to be duly grateful for one day out of the twelve months, until at present the time is heralded and have found something to be duly grateful for one day out of the twelve months, until at present the time is heralded annually as one for rejoicing.

It is pleasant to know that once a year the people can offer up thanks that they are still alive and that the old world moves around in the same circle that it has traversed for ages past. The rich will be thankful for the wealth that has been showered upon them, and the poor that things are no worse than they are. The one redeeming trait of human nature is that it can build air castles of most filmsy structure and watch them vanish under the melting breath of cold reality without so much as a shudder, and if there is any one time in all the year more than another when a man may rejoice for what he doesn't possess it is Thanksgiving day. Those who hang on the under side of the wheel of fortune are to be thankful that they can be pulled no lower, and the more favored that they are prosperous.

The author who said that it is natural for man to indulge in the illusions of hope struck a responsive chord which arouses a sympathetic vibration in many hearts on Thanksgiving day.

The periodicals of the month have nearly ympathetic vibration in many hearts on hanksgiving day. The periodicals of the month have nearly if arrived and the members of the household can read with interest the usual thanksgiving menu of literary efforts, there will be without doubt the story of the widow sitting in her lonely, cold garest with several half-starved children clusering about her, anxiously wondering there the next bite of bread is coming rom. At the critical moment, it being framksgiving day, of course, the door will upon and a wagonload, more or less, of urkeys, etc., will be showered into the sipless home. After perusing these stories turkeys, etc., will be showered into the hapless home. After perusing these stories while digreting his dinner of cranberry sauce and other delicacies, the reader concludes with settisaction that it is a wise rule of providence that modern miracles occur est least on Thanksgiving days.

The prisoners in the jails, rany of the poor on the streets and the impoventhed from whatever cause dependent upon public bounty for support will eat turkey today, however, even though they may content themselves with a less sumptuous diet throughout the remaining 364 days of the year.

And the people will enjoy their holiday.

At the Churches. THANKSGIVING SERVICES TO BE HELD TODAY.

Thanksgiving services will be held in the various churches today. At the Cathedral Rt. Rev. Bishop Montgomery will preach the sermon at high mass, which begins at 9 a.m. Prof. A. G. THE CHILDREN'S CELEBRATION OF THE AUTUMNAL FESTIVAL.

THE AUTUMNAL FESTIVAL.

The spacious central hall of the Cornwell-street school was crowded with viators yesterday to witness the children's merry celebration of the autumnal festival. The hall was beautifully decorated with paims, peppers, lilies, papyrus and roses, while in the center a space about eight feet square was heaped with potatoes, apples, groceries and canned fruits and meats; the children's thank-offering to the poor. The programme consisted of appropriate recitations, songs, cornet solgs by Master Walter Swarewout, a child only 7 years old, who was applauded to the scho, and plano music by Mrs. Tischouser. The teachers were gratified by the many expressions of satisfaction from the parents.

There was a double programme, the lower rooms holding their exercises in the morning and the higher in the afternoon. The boop-drill under the direction of Mrs. O'Gorman is deserving of special mention. The afternoon programme was as follows: Song, "The Harvest"—Eighth grade pupils.

Food for the Hungry.

MANY WAGONLOADS ARRIVE AT THE DISTRIBUTING QUARTERS.

All of the departments about the city, county and federal buildings will be closed today, as will also a grast many of the business places. The chronic tramp who comes to town with the hope of being fed may be disappointed, but the deserving poor are to be supplied with food. From the various schools throughout the city, wagonloads of provisions were hauled yesperday to rooms on Boyle Heights and New High street. The plan of asking the assistance of the school-child on in providing the Thankagiving day meal for the powerty-stricken was agriated some weeks ago, and it succeeded beyond the most sanguine hopes of the Associated Charities, under the direction of which the work was carried on.

There were just tons of ham, vegetables, bread, tea, wood and coal, the whole making thirty-six full wagonloads.

At the rooms of the Associated Charities in the Courthouse yestarday, the attendants were all busily engaged in completing arrangements for the treat to be given the needy. So large was the quantity of groceries, etc., donated that it was almost impossible to handle the provisions as fast as they were hauled in.

Distributing points have been established and today the work of sending out the stores will commence. The names of all those deserving help have been obtained, and none but this class will be furnished with food, for experience has taught that where free feasts are given that tramps will flock from far and near to fill themselves at the public table and then infest the town for weeks afterward.

The members of the committees from the various charitable organizations are requested to meet this moreous at 80 celections.

THE FALL FIELD DAY

An Attractive Programme Arranged for Today.

The Track is in Fine Condition and All Events are Well Filled Filled.

The Bicycle Baces Will be One of the Best Features — Well-known Wheelmen Entered—Handicaps Announced.

Since the Los Angeles Athletic Club in-augurated its first field day—nine years ago the 30th of last May—the interest in athletes and athletics in this part of the State has been on the increase, and today Southern California and the Los Angeles Athletic Club in particular, can beast of past, is a good one, and, judging from the list of entries, the success that has at-tended former meetings will again be re-peated, stronger than ever. The track has been put in excellent shape, and, weather all earnestness, and will prove more interesting than ever from the fact that a large number of new riders will today make their debut before the public at Athletic Park. The one mile betycle, movice, presents the largest field of entries for any similar event ever held under the auspices of the club, and will bring out fourteen riders, the most of whom will ride their maiden rake. The large number of riders will necessitate this race being run off in three heats, besides the finals.

The first heat will bring out Magee, Rico, H. L. Martin, J. R. Gardiner and Robert Gaylord, J. D. S. Peach, Hartley Shaw, Philo Jones and Godfrey Smith will line up for the second heat, while the third heat will be between Mr. Funk, C. Miller, W. B. Stephens, D. E. Whitman and Sam Cohen. The first and second man to cross the tape in each heat, qualify for the finals. The 100-yard novice, the next event on the programme, will bring out four speedy youngsters, new on the cinder path, but said to be running in the neighborhood of 11 seconds, Of the four, William Graham, Clem Wilson, A. J. Murietta and George B. Hutton, the latter is looked upon as a winner, although the claim is made that the others are doing a hundred in less time.

Next will come the one mile blcycle, class B, which will bring out some of the old standbys. Fritz Lacy, Emil Ulbricht, Clyde Washburne and Joe Long in the first heat, and Fred Holbrook, S. G. Spier, W. A. Burke and W. Hatton in the second, will all make a strong fight te quality for the finals, which will probably be one of the best contested races of the day,

The 100-yard dash, open, will bring out A. J. Murletta, E. H. Morrison, W. B. Sheckels and James Ryan. Sheckels defeated Ryan a year ago in 10 3-5 seconds, while the two first mentioned are uhknown on the local path.

The one-half mile, class A, will be run in two heats, besides the final, all of which feated Ryan a year ago in 10 3-5 seconds, while the two first mentioned are inknown on the local path.

The one-half mile, class A, will be run in two beats, besides the final, all of which will be a sprint from the crack of the pistol. The entries are D. E. Whitman, D. It. Burke, W. B. Stephens, Mr. Funk, Godfrey Smith, Philo Jones, C. F. Lemmon, W. A. Taylor, J. R. Gardiner, H. Norman, E. H. Smith and W. Volk.

The 220-yard dash will bring together two old rivals in the the persons of B. F. Hoyt of Long Beach, who carried off the shonors a year ago; and James Ryan of the Athletic Club, also E. F. Morrison. It is confidently expected that the track record for this distance will go under, as both men are out to win at all events. William Graham, F. L. financial difficulties. Mrs. McLasky says that her husband was a man of good habits, fond of his home and family, and that she can see no teason for his remaining away from them so long, unless he has taken his life. He has been despondent of late, and the only hope seems to lie in the supposition that worry and trouble have temporarily unbalanced his mind, and he has wandered off somewhere. Mrs. McLasky is making every effort to find some trace of the missing man, and in the meantime is in a most deplorable condition, as she and her children have been left without support.

PASSED OUT OF EXISTENCE.
CHICAGC, Nov. 28.—Chairman Caldwell, of the Western Passenger Association, tendered his resignation today. It was accepted, and the Western Passenger Association has passed out of existence.

When the meeting convened this morning, Chairman Caldwell said that, if the lines wished to form another association, they would be free to choose such a chairman as they desired. A resolution declaring the Western Passenger Association to be out of existence was introduced and adopted with the understanding that the Emigrant Clearing-house shall remain intact. Mr. Caldwell will be retained, with his principal assistants, for the purpose of munaging the clearing-house until the association's affairs are in a more definite shape than at present. For the purpose of providing for the expenses of the clearing-house all the roads present at the meeting piedged themselves to contribute prorate. The roads so voting included several which have not of late been members of the Western Passenger Association, and their total number was greater than ever before at one time.

The report on reorganization was read, and recommended that the territory of the old association, and the property under the 'old transcontinental association should be included in one general association, the territory to begin at Galveston, continuing to New Orleans and thence north along the Mississippi River to St. Louis, thence along the tracks of the Illinois Central and Vandalis to Chicago, thence through the peninsula of Michigan to St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie and from there west to the Pacific Ocean.

It was recommended that this territory be placed under the jurisdiction of five territorial committees to have their head quarters as follows: The Pacific Ocean.

It was recommended that the territory of all matters of general interest are to be reserved to the general association, which will have its headquarters in this city. SHOULD GO THROUGH THE HOUSE. CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Referring to the Atlantic & Paofic Railroad Construction Company'a deal, Congressman Childs said today:

"I was asked by a constituent if I would introduce such a bill and I informed him that I would if requested. I have not yet useen the bill, and do not really know whether it will be given to me to present. Such a proposition, if properly circumscribed and bound down, might be of great bensite to the people and the government, the latter by greatly facilitating its operations, the movement of mails and its troops. I understand the railroad in contemplation is to be an air-line with double tracks, greatly shortening the time between New York and San Francisco. The House of Representatives is the one in which the people should be advised if there is merit in a poposition such as this company would make, and perhaps the matter may be brought to the people's attention through this means."

There Mrs. Duvail went during her confinement, and her child was born there about a week ago. Ar gentleman personally interested in the matter told a Times reporter of the metidos employed by Mrs. Greene, which, if true, should be investigated by the authorities. The child's death is expected at any time. The mother is also critically fil. She has been sent to her husband's people at Vernon. Some of the neighbors are very infigrant, and are determined to have an investigation. Housans Officer Wright has been notified, and is about to juvestigate the matter. delinquency of the first half were completted yesterday. The grand total was $342,045.92. The receipts for the corresponding period of last year were $340, it will be remembered, is $1.20 per $100, the same as last year. The total assessment on which the tax is levied is, however, somewhat larger, which would make the total taxes for this year correspondingly greater.

When questioned by the court, the vetteran stated that he was not only aware of the nature of the proceedings, but that the charge of insanity was preferred against him in pursuance of a scheme to get rid of him, because he had objected to the poor quality of food furnished at the Home. The court, however, after hearing the testimony of the officers of that institution, declined to accept Conway's version of the affair, or his repeated assertions of his sanity.

MUSICAL MENTION.

The plane recital given by Chevalier de Kontski at the Bartlett Music Hall last evening was well attended, and in every way was a success, the Chevaller being enthusiastically received. De Kontski pos-sesses the power of the artist. His touch is marvelously delicate, but at the same seeses the power of the artist. His touch is marvelously delicate, but at the same time is firm and strong. His rendering of Beethoven's "Sonata" was especially fine. Railway World. SUNSET LIMITED.

"The night has a thousand eyes Yet the light of a whole world dies At set of sun."

As the myriad lesser orbs which the night reveals are completely obscured and lost to sight by the blasing radiance of the King of Day, so "Sunset Limited," the latter-day wonder of the railway world, outshines all competitors, throwing the star attractions of other roads into total eclipse.

This flying combination of traveling palaces has not an equal in tran-sit accommodations on the roads of either continent. A notable and unique feature of this train is a Composite Car-Bath, Tonsorial Parlor, Cafe, Library and Smoking Parlor. ## THE CITY'S PARKS.

Annual Report on the Public Breathing Places.

Superintendent Legrand Tells of the Improvements During the Past Year.

New Driveways at East Side, a Foun-tain at St. James and the Water-fall at Westlake—An Excellent Showing.

The annual report of the Superintendent of Parks was presented to the Park mission by Superintendent Legrand erday, and Liter being accepted by body, was ordered presented to the Council in conformity with the reoutrements of the city charter. The re-port gives a comprehensive statement, quite fully detailed, in regard to the work done and improvements made in the various parks during the past year. Some of the principal features are given in brief as follows: ents of the city charter. The re-

CENTRAL PARK.

Although Central Park is restricted in area the number of visitors is very large and the amount of work necessary for and the amount of work necessary for-maintenance is consaquently greater than in some of the other parks. During the year there have been 24,000 plants set out and quite a number of the larger shrubs and smaller trees have been dug up and transplanted turther apart as they became crowded. Barbed wire stretched at the proper places has very effectually stopped persons from going in and out of the park except at the proper entrances. There has also been some painting done. EAST SIDE PARK.

ments at the Bast SNe Park has been the piping of the ditch back of the conservatory. This had been a great nuisance because of the noxious odors emanating from it and also because of the rank growth of weeds about it. This work was done with the assistance of the "unemployed" and now where the ditch was there is a fine roadway. The driveway extending from the norta side of the hill back of the old nursery has been exceeded for a distance of 280 feet. Between the conservatory and the entrance on Mission road just above the bridge was a group of trees through which ran a brook. This has been dug out about twelve feet wide and the place planted with water lilies which now take the place of the tu'es that formerly encreached there.

Below this a considerable space has been dug out to hold the water at the lower level and this will be planted to water lilies. There have been 1065 feet of roadway.constructed and also 2542 lineal feet of walks and 3105 feet of coblineal feet of walks and 3105 feet of cob-ble guitters along such walks.

The other work done includes the haul-ing of a large quantity of dirt, the con-struction of a moderate-sized boathouse, the putting in of 1613 feet of fence, the riprapping of 642 feet of the lake bank, the laying of a considerable quantity of pipe and the grading and sowing of about seven acres of lawn.

ECHO PARK.

ECHO PARK.

In Echo Park it was found that the force of the waves caused by the heavy wind that occurred in a few cases rendered it necessary that the banks should be protected from being washed away. This was done by means of stones placed along the shores. In building the 3082 feet of riprapping there were quarried 550 loads of rook at Elysian Park, and there were used 250 loads of dirt. Of this work 350 feet was done in cement. The shade trees about the lake will soon be large enough to make the park a very attractive place. On the east side of the park half an acre has been planted to eucalyptus trees and 200 loads of sand have been drawn there so that when the trees have grown it will be a very attractive place for children to play. There was also a good deal of other work done, among the items being the laying of 3356 feet of cemented cobble gutters along the walks graded and graveled last year.

ELYSTAN PARK. At Elysian Park where the road that runs from Buena Vista-strest bridge and follows north of Solano Canyon comes in follows north of Solano Canyon comes in view of the waiter company's reservoir a branch drive twenty-six feet wide and 640 feet long has been roughly graded to the top of the hill above Buena Vista-street bridge, where a circular pluce about 100 feet in diameter has been leveled off. This would make a fine location for an observatory. The ridge west of the reservoir has been planted to Monterey pines and a few colive trees. A good deal of improvement has been made in the roudways at a number of places. More than 11,500 trees have been planted and they are doing exceedingly well.

Tables, swings and todet-houses have been put up in the large grove of gum frees in the Chavez ravine for the accommodation of pionickers. A large amount of plowing has been done. The dry season has been quite a drawback in this park. HOLLENBECK PARK.

The force of Hollenbeck Park, in con-junction with the "unemployed," last spring extended the brick culvert that drains the lake for a distance of twenty drains the lake for a distance of twenty feet, and the portion of Boyle avenue that lies between the southeast end of the park and the Sisters' Orphans' Home was cut to a width of nearly eighty feet, at the same time making a fill at the low place 425 feet long, 23 feet wide and 14 feet deep on an average, and also raising the old grade three feet for a length of over 200 feet, and forty feet wide. This has much improved the street for traffic. A large amount of work has been devoted to the laying out of walks and drives and to the planting of shrubbery. There have been 3165 feet of gutters laid along the walks. A considerable quantity of cement work has been done. The leakage from the lake caused by the loose joints in the sewer running underneath is much in need of being remedied.

NURSERY.

The nursery department is located in the lower end of the Chavez ravine in Elysian Park. It has been furnished with a water supply by means of 5000 feet of two-inch pipe. At least ten acres of land have been plowed and partially set with nursery stock. A propagating house 18x50 feet has been receted and the raising of all the trees, shrubs, flowering and foliage plants is done here. A collection of 457 varieties of roses has been received and will be planted as a rose garden, which it is expected will attract a good deal of attention. NURSERY.

PLAZA AND CITY HALL LOT. PLAZA. AND CITY HALL LOT. faintenance is nearly all that has been no for the Plaza and City Hall lot tept that a cement coping and from ce and gate have been put in front of-latter. There has been a great deal travel through the City Hall lot by sons going to and coming from the vate buildings in the rear and also by ms. Lumber and building materials to been thrown promiscuously about loh has made it a lasting annoyance is expense. It has been found imposible to keep the place in shape. The City Hall lot, however, is only under the care of the park department and does no PROSPECT PARK. A large amount of grading has been at Prespect Park, and the rest of the work has been mostly devoted to maintain ST. JAMES PARK.

ST. JAMES PARK.

A handsome large fountain has been constructed in St. James Park, which is thirty-two feet in diameter. A quantity of Arroyo Seco rock was used in the construction to give the work a rustic appearance. North and south of the fountain the half-moon flower beds have been planted with roses of the La France variety, which is a perpetual bloomer.

WESTLAKE PARK.

Westlake Park has been rendered more attractive by the addition of a handsome new boathouse, on the top of which is a suitable bandstand. At the north end of the park a waterfall is in course of construction. This piece of work will be quite elaborate. There have been 155 loads of rock quarried in Elysian Park to be used in giving the waterfall a matural and rugged appearance. The improvements and maintenance in this park during the past year aggregate a large amount ments and maintenance in this park dur-ing the past year aggregate a large amoun of work.

- REIGN OF THE BICYCLE.

The Present Passion for the Wheel is not Likely to Die Out.

(December Century:) What may be alled, not improperly, the blcycle passion called, not improperly, the bicycle passion, has full possession of several leading countries of the world. England and France, notably those parts of them in and about London and Paris, have been so given overe to it for some time that a large proportion of their population come and go on their errands of business or pleasure "on a wheel." Americans who have recently traveled abroad have been astonished at the general use of the bicycle there, and have been still more astonished, on returning to their own country during the last year, to discover what headway the passion has made here. It is said to be a conservative estimate by competent authorities that during the year now closing a quarter of a million bicycles have been sold in this country, and that the number of riders approach a million. There are said to be over fifty thousand in New York and its neighborhood, and fully half that number is and about Boston. The latter city caught the passion from Europe some time before New York did, and has a larger proportion of its population, male and female, regularly devoted to it.

Observers of the phenomenon are wondering whether it is merely a passing whim or whether it "has come to stay;" whether those who have taken it up will continue it after the novelty has worn off, or whether they will drop it for the next new fad that shall come along. There are many reasons for thinking that its stay will be permanent. Undoubtedly many of those who take it up because of its vogue will tire if it after a while, but these will not constitute a large proportion of the whole number. The great body of riders find in the bicycle a new pleasure in life, a means for seeing more of the world, a source of better health through open-air exercise, a bond for comradeship, a method of rapid locomotion either for business or pleasure, and many other enjoyments and advantages which they will not relinquish. The bicycle has, in fact, become a necessary part of modern life, and could not be abandoned without turning the social progress

The bicycle is, indeed, the great leveler. It puts the poor man on a level with the rich, enabling him to "sing the song of the open road" as freely as the millionaire, and to widen his knowledge by visiting the regions near to or far from his home, observing how other men live. He could not afford a rahlway journey and sojourn in these places, and he could not walk through them without tiring sufficiently to destroy in a measure the pleasure which he sought. But he can ride through twenty, thirty, fity, even seventy miles of country in a day without serious fatigue, and with mo expense save his board and lodging. To thousands of men and women the longing of years to travel a little as soon as they could afford it is thus gratified, virtually without limit; for a "little journey in the world" can be made on every recurring holiday or vacation.

THE COST OF OLD BOOKS.

The Prices Vary According to the Quality of the Dealer's Patrons.

Quality of the Dealer's Patrons.

The book-hunter soon finds out that the prices for old, rare tomes vary in ratio to the quality, or wealth, of a dealer's patrons. This is as true of the book shops of San Francisco, Chicago, New Orleans or Boston, as it is of New York, the leading old book mart of the country. If you go into the stylish book stores of any of these cities you will have to pay 25 to 50 per cent. more for a book than if you went to the inconsequential dealers in out-of-the-way places—in cellars, or in tumble-these cities you will have to pay 25 to 50 per cent. more for a book than if you went to the inconsequential dealers in out-of-the-way places—in cellars, or in tumble-down shops.

Another point in book prices is the high prices charged for one sort of books and the cheapness of others. On the 5 and 10-cent counters will be found beautifully-bound religious works and volumes of novels, worn and cheap editions of popular novels and technical works, too ancient to be of any special service at this time. It is an unusual thing to find a bargain on any, of these cheap counters; the dealers are exceedingly careful on that score. Albeit, every once in a while a dealer gets caught napping, and the book-hunter picks up a tome of great value.

Then the prices go up and down, according to fads. The Napoleon fad is now on, and everything about the little Corsican is selling at an advance on last year's prices. There is also a boom on 'Americans—the early editions of Lowell, Hawthorne and Holmes now bring good, round figures. Just as soon as the dealers find that the public is after a certain line of books, they put up the price. This they deny, of course, but the book-hunter who makes regular rounds of the shops knows better. It may be said that the religious works sell at the cheapest prices; dramatic works, memoirs and annals of the stage at the highest. Works on sport average up with the drama. Audubon's works are always held at high figures. Frank Forrester's works, now out of print, are hard to pick up, and the few found on sale go at fancy figures.

The high prices for sporting works are owing to two causes. Works of this character are rarely issued, except in limited editions, and are well printed and bound. Dramatic and sporting works seldom go into second editions, so when an edition is exhausted the purchaser must go to the old book store. These works, gotten up in the style of "Booth's Letters" and "Jefferson's Autoblography"—both exquisitely illustrated by the Century—are not thrown away when read, like most no

Probably an Impostor.

Probably an Impostor.

(Chicago Tribune:) "And you haven't had any work to do for three months." said the motherly old lady. "Did you go out on a strike?"

"Me? No'm; I was discharged," answered the applicant for charity, rapidly disposing of a chicken gizzard and beginning on the mashed potatoes. "I used to have a good position with a gas company. One day I tore up a street to fix:a pipe an' I left the pavement as good as I found it. Somebody reported me, ma'am, an' the company fired me. They said I must be gettin' ready for some kind of deep devilment. You must have heerd of that job of work, ma'am. It was the only one of the kind that ever was done. Well, I was the man."

which all enlightened women are concerned.

The subjects discussed embrace fifteef. Among them are literature and the dramatic art, science in religion, moral and social reform, the civil and political status of women, civil law and government, and religion. Under the head of education considerable prominence is given to the kindergarten as an educational agency. In the discussion which took place on this subject, Mrs. Caroline M. Severance of California raps the public school system sharply over the knuckles. She says that under existing arrangements the public schools are "only for the very poor or very rich." It seems difficult to reconcile this statement with the facts. The usual complaint, apparently well based, is that it is just these two particular classes that the public schools do not reach. The children of very rich people don't want to go to them, and the children of very poor people won't go to them, or to any other if they can help it. Mrs. Kate Tupper Galpin of Los Angeles comes much nearer the truth when in an address on the "Ethical Influence of Women in Education," she says "Public schools are not charitable institutions; they are institutions on which the safety and perpetuity of our national life depend."

One of the strongest blits in the report

"Public schools are not charitable institutions; they are institutions on which the safety and perpetuity of our national life depend."

One of the strongest bits in the report is the address by Annie Nathan Meyer of New York on "Woman's Place in the Republic of Letters." She scouts the idea of there being such a thing as sex in literature, and cites many instances where women have encroached on that literary domain, exclusively reserved by men as their own, and carried off high honors. The statement, however, of Molly Billiott Seawell, the novelist, that "if all that women have ever done in literature were swept out of existence, the world would not lose a single masterplece," is a thorn which evidently rankles. Had such a statement emanated from a man it would be condoned, if not pardoned, but coming from one of their own sex it is treason and treachery combined.

Much space is given in the report to the addresses made on the subject of "The Civil and Political Status of Women." It is interesting to observe, as stated in a prefatory note by the editor, that the twenty-four addresses published in the report are but a fraction of those bearing on the same subject delivered during the week the congress was in session. The subject of their civil and political emancipation, to put it in that way, would seem to possess a charm for women possessed by no other. Like the Pope, they will never be satisfied until they have acquired full temporal power. Notwithstanding their number, these addresses are all interesting and worthy of all attention. While the demands of the several women's franchise leagues embrace pretty much everything in sight, yet the arguments are advanced in a conservative line, and there is much, in them that would be well for all men, and "especially those in authority over us" to read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest.

The work is published in two handsome volumes strongly bound, printed in large.

Ruskin has been called the leader of style in English prose. His poetry has never been admired as has his prose. The description of a locomotive, found in a recent published volume from his pen, is a beautiful piece of word-painting:

"I cannot express the amazed awe, the crushed humility, with which I sometimes watch a locomotive take its breath at a railroad station, and think what work there is in its bars and wheels, and what manner of men they must be who dig manner of men they must be who dig brown ironstone out of the ground and forge it into that! What assemblage of ac-curate and mighty faculties in them; more than deally rower welling are and force it into that! What assemblage of accurate and mighty faculties in them; more than fleshly power over melting crag and colling fire, fettered and finessed at last into the precision of watchmaking; Titanian hammer strokes, beating out of lava these glittering cylinders, and timely respondent valves, and fine-ribbed rods, which touch each other as a serpent writhes in noiseless gliding, and omnipotence of grasp; infinitely complex anatomy of active steel, compared with which the skeleton of a living creature would seem, to a careless observer, clumsy and vile—a mere morbid secretion and phosphatous prop of flesh. What would the men who thought out this, who beat it out; who touched it into its polished calm of power, who set it to its appointed task and triumphantly saw it fulfill its task to the utmost of their will, feel or think about this weak hand of mine, timidly leading a little stream of water color which I cannot manage, into an imperfect shadow of something else—mer failure in every motion, and endless disappointment? What, I repeat, would these iron-dominant genit think or me, and what ought I to think of them?

Wine Drinking in France.

(Indianapolis News:) The French seem to be the greatest consumers of wine. Boys come alongside trains with baskets of it for sale. At every station there are stands where bottled wine and other refreshmen's may be had. You can get wine at rallway stations when you cannot get water. Indeed, nobody seems to drink the latter anywhere in Europe. You will see people getting into cars in France, many of them with bottles of wine to drink as they ride. I observed that at almost every long stop made by the train going from Geneva to Paris, many purchase of bottles of wine were made by the young and old, the well-dreased and poorly-stirled, the men and the women. I got into one compartment which bed been vacated by a fine-looking old gentleman and found in the baggage rack a quart bottle of Burgundy, nearly all the contents of which he had consumed. You will see none of this in the English railways, or stations, but there is an enormous consumption of heavy alcoholic drinks, like whisky and brandy, and this is habitual and general. FRESH LITERATURE.

"THE WORLD'S CONGRESS OF REPRESENTATIVE WOMEN." (Rand, McNally & Co., Chicago and New York.)

The report just published of the World's Chicago during the Columbian Exposition, is an exhaustive and interesting resume of the proceedings of that body with Sawali, chairman of the Committee of the Congress and the Chicago during the Columbian Exposition. It is an exhaustive and interesting resume for the Congress Auxiliary. The cause for the Congress Auxiliary. The celiorial institution of the Wonda's Congress and instorical resume for the Congress Auxiliary. The celiorial institution is so very comprehensive as to be vague. It reads: "To the men, and women among her contemporaries who having ears to hear," can understand its message, and having open minds and generous hearts, can regard with favor the ultimate absolutely equal co-partnership which it unmistakably foreshadows, this is respectfully dedicated by the editor. The report, however, makes clear the object and aim of the congress: to present the people of the world the wonderful progress of women in all civilized lands in the great departments of intellectual "activity. It constitutes in its published form, a complete and comprehensive vet condensed and readsble library on all the great themes discussed at the congress, and in which all enlightened women are considerable prominence is given to the kindergarten as an educational agency. Art of Finance in War.

(Now York Post.) That the art of war in modern times is more and more reducing staelf to the art of finance we have lately had many facts to remind us afresh. War, in truth, is only another name for financial speculation on a great scale. If Japan whips China, she stands to win $200,000,000, which she will exact as "indemnity"—that is, as a return on her investment. Military glory continues to be a fine thing in the eyes of mankind, but without an accompaniment of hard cash, when all is over, it partakes too much of the nature of a barren reality. At any rate, the finance ministers who have to provide the funds for securing the glory keep a sharp eye on the gold, which they hope to get along with it, and, if it comes to a choice between the two, are disposed to say, with Omar Khayyam: "Take the cash and waive the rest." Even such "war scares" as those caused by the death of the Czar, when it was first seen to be impending, or the threat of complications between France and England, or the troubles of the French in Madagascar, throw the stock markets into a shiver, and show how war in a commercial and industrial world is like blood poisoning in the body. When hotheads begin to talk about the need of fighting off Russian assaults on Afghanistan, the bankers and merchants at once begin to ask who is to provide the $20,000,000 necessary to send a British army there, or the $100,000,000 which would be required to keep it there a few months. Down go the stocks until the official assurance comes that there is "pothing in it."

PHOTOGRAPHY UNDER WATER

It Has Been Accomplished by

Photographer. Photographing in colors and under water have been two problems in photography, that have never been solved—or rather ac-complished. However, an interesting re-port comes from France that a Frenchman has been able to photograph objects, fish and shells, at the bottom of the Red Sea. has been able to photograph objects, fish and shells, at the bottom of the Red Sea. First, ne secured a diver's costume to observe at the bottom of the set the metamorphoses of certain mollusca impossible to cultivate in aquaria. He was struck with the wonderful beauty of submarine landscapes, and resolved to photograph what he could, since a simple description would savor too much of an over-vivid imagination. At first he worked in shallow water with a water-tlight apparatus, and the clearness of the water allowed him sufficient light to sensitize the plates. But proportionately as the depth increased, clearness diminished, and the motion of the waves clouded his proofs. Then the young scientist conceived the idea of utilizing magnesium in an apparatus of his own invention. This apparatus consists essentially of a barrel filled with oxygen, and surmounted by a glass bell containing an alcohol lamp. On the flame of the lamp, by means of a mechanical contrivance, powdered magnesium is thrown, flaring as often as a view is taken. The barrel is plerced with holes on the lower side in such a manner that as the oxygen diminishes the sea water enters, so preserving the equilibrium between external and internal pressure.

Beautiful submarine photographs taken on the very bed of the Mediterranean at Banyuls-sur-Mer, near the Spanish border, have been produced in this way.

If women could only be made without affections they would master the world. It is the off-moments that we do not count as playing any part in our lives that are, after all, the best we have.

There never was a marriage yet in which one was not a loser, and it is generally the more gifted half that has to pay toll. A woman doesn't care a fig for a love as deep as the death sea and as silent; she wants something that tells her it in little waves all the time.

THANKSGIVING FOR THE POOR.

Benevolent people responded liberally to the call for contributions of food and clothing for the poor, to be dispensed under the direction of the Samaritans. The school children alone supplied a great lot of acceptable things. The vestry of the Methodist Chwich which was today converted into a rep. 1.77 for the donations, presented a busy scene, as contributions in armiuls and wagon-loads came in and were arranged and apportioned by the kind-hearted ladies who were in charge of the good work, and who are striving to make some people thankful, who, without these ministrations, would have little or nothing for which to give thanks. The amount contributed exceeded that of last year, but more was needed, for the society has forty families on its list to be remembered on this annual feast day.

The Republican Club had a final meeting this evening in the Recorder's courtroom when all bills contracted during the campaign were settled. When this business was done Ed Lockett got up and made a little speech in which he referred in complimentary cerms to the good and arduous work that had been done by the president of the Pasadena Republican Club, M. H. Weight, and in behalf of the members of the club presented to Weight a handsome gold watch, with chain and Odd Fellow charm.

Weight was very much affected by the token of appreciation of his efforts and responded in a few well-chosen words of thanks. Those present gave the recipient of the watch a rousing cheer and made him feel even better. The watch is a beauty, having cost with chain and charm, an even $100.

THE MACOABBESS EN MASQUE.

The masquerade ball given by the Knights and Ladies of the Macoabesa et Wooster Hall this evening was a great success in point of numbers in attendance and the amount of pleasure the participants got out of it. The hall, which was prebally decorated, was filled with as few of whom were in full mask. Many of the costumes were unique and beauthful. As an evidence of patriotism it should be noted that there were three Unicle Sams and three Columbias. The Indian, Irishman, bear, soldier and sallor were good. The floor managers appeared in the guise of clowns and there were two other Merry Andrews that created much sport. The ladies exhibited much excellent taste in the sholce of contumes. There was one each for the local papers, and a particularly charming suit made wholly of copies of The Times. The 'chewing gum girls' in red were pretty and the little girds in blud were entrancing.

The ball opened with the grand march at 9 p.m. to the music of Lowensky's orchestra, and from that hour the fun increased. No dancers were allowed on the floor unless they were in full mask. The unmasking was done so late as to preclude the possibility of giving a list of names and costumes in this report. The Macoabess are to be congratulated on the success of their caterial ment.

that can possibly be squeezed into an ordinary paper wrapper for the small sum of 1 cent, which is a mistake.

The Times representative was admitted to the Santa Ana postoffice a few days ago during a "clean-up," as the cleaning-out process of the office is called, and some interesting observations were made. Of all the paper packages opened about two-thirds were copies of the Sunday Times, which had been read by subscribers here and then matiled to Eastern friends. As the Sunday Times weights over the four ounces allowed by saw to be carried for 1 cent, they were passed over to the box containing "overweight matter," unless some mark on the wrapper identified the sender, in which instance it would be returned for the extra postage.

Not only were the papers overweight, but in a number of instances the law was violated by sending written messages on the inside of the pages, of which the following examples are given: "All well. Glad to hear from you all. Will write soon." Another was, "Letter just received. Will write soon. Kiss the baby for ms." In a package of The Times of seweral dates was the message: "All well. Papers received. Hope to get that letter soon. Love to all. Zaid." A copy of one of the local papers contained a healthy garantium cutting. Many other packages were opened, and a number of them brought forth smiles from those who were handling them. It would be well to remember to put enough postage on packages of papers before mailing them, or they may never reach their destination. It might also be well to might also be well to messages on the inside of the papers.

PRATT WILL CONTEST.

THE CASE NOW IN HANDS OF THE JURY.

Special Issues Submitted Covering Every Point of the Famous Suit—Many Intricate Questions Involved.

The trial of the famous contest over the will of Mrs. Annie A. Pratt, deceased, which has been pending before Judge Clark and a jury, in the Probate Court for the past three months, was conclude yesterday, so far as the latter body is concerned, and it only remains now for the court to render judgment in accordance with the findings of the jury.

Immediately upon convening court at 9 o'clock yesterday morning Judge Clark o'clock yesterday morning Junge Chark commenced reading the voluminous in-structions, offered by both sides, to the jury. This task consumed over an hour, but, at 10:10 o'clock, Deputy Sheriff Dave Martin was sworn and the jury retired in his custody to deliberate upon the verdict, which took the form of a number of inter-rogatories upon the special issues in the case.

his custody to deliberate upon the verdict, which took the form of a number of interrogatories upon the special issues in the case.

Shortly after noon the jurors were taken out to lunch, and again, at 6 o'clock, were seatorted to dinner; but, as was to be expected, owing to the intricate nature of the matters which they were called upon to determine, no agreement had been reached at midnight, and the probabilities are that it will take them all day to arrive at a conclusion.

The facts in the case, briefly reviewed, are as follows:

Mrs. Annie A. Prest, who died at the residence of her brother-in-law, Gen. John Mansfield of this city, in July last, left a will dated April 23, 1831, appended to which was a codicil bearing date June 3, 1835, in the hands of that gentleman, which was duly offered for probate. Immediately thereafter Mrs. Lucy C. Goodspeed, the daughter of the deceased, and the children of Charles Pratt, her deceased son, by their guardian, filed a contest, claiming that the document was not the last will of Mrs. Pratt, but that she executed a subsequent one in 1834, and that, in any event, the document offered for probace had been altered in such a manner as to affect the intercent of the direct heirs, and enhance those of the Mansfield's and Mrs. Louise K. Cross, another sister of the deceased. Furthermore it was claimed by the contestants that Mrs. Prast was in such a condition mentally that she was sompletely under the control of the Manfields, who used every means in their power to estrange her from her daughter.

The main points of the contention of the contestarts were that several paragraphs of the will offered for probate had been abstracted and changed, as was evidenced by the difference, in the colors of the inks used, and the number of pinholes in the margins of the various sheets, and that in making the alleged changes forgery had been committed.

The will of 1834, which it is claimed, revoked that of 1831 and all others, was not destroyed, but evidence was introduced to show that such

The trial of the case was commenced on September 13, last, thirty-five days being consumed in taking testimony and about a dozen more being taken up by the argu-

The special issues submitted to the jury The special issues submitted to the jury are as to whether or not the various documents existed, as claimed; as to whether or not any chahges or alterations were made in the will of 1881, and of so when, and lastly the jury is called upon to determine whether or no t Mrs. Pratt was of sound mind when she attached the codicil to her will, if she did so.

EVANGELIST YATMAN.

Revival Metings at the First M. E.

Evangelist Yatman spoke to a good au-dience at the First Methodist Episcopal Church last evening, taking for his subject Proverus, xiv, 12: "There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof is death." "May I ask you a frank question?" said the speaker. "Are rank question? said the speaker. "Are you mistakeh? A man may be honest in his purpose, and yet be mistaken. Every one reaches a point in their lives when they may choose a certain way to follow. Please God it may be the way which leads to eternal life.

"There is a way that is wrong. "There is a way that is wrong. It is the way to neglect. More souls are in perdiction tonight from this than from any other cause. The pathway of neglect will put us beyond the point where we may turn to God. It may seem like a trivial matter, but it is not. Are you neglecting the right way? Which road are you taking tonight? The one which leads to life eiernal? or the one which leads to life eiernal? or the one which leads to remain punishment?

"I will show you that it is a wrong road if following, it leads to the rejection of Jesus Christ. In Him only is there hope and salvation, and without Him there can be no success in life. You may take which road you please, but I choose the one which leads to immortality."

Mr. Yatman, at the close, asked for any one who wished to start in the right way to rise. Five arose and afterward came to the eltar.

RADER'S THRIFT.

An Illustration of His Business Methods.

How He Secured a Commissionership for the Broadway Improvement.

Transferred Property to His Bus ness Partner that He Might Become Eligible-A Retrans-

The Times has on several occasions in discussing Mr. Rader's candidacy for Mayor, stated that he was lacking in all the essentials for the Chief Executive of a great and growing city like Los An-geles. He is not a broad-minded, liberal man, in any sense of the word, and a peculiar financial transaction by which he made a few dollars and at the same time complied with the letter, while evading the spirit of the law, has just come to light which fully bears out this assertion and is fully substantiated by the official records of the city and county of Los An

December 16, 1889, President France-field of the City Council introduced a mo-tion instructing the City Engineer to pre-tion instructing the City Engineer to pre-tion instructing the City Engineer to pre-pare the necessary plans, maps, specifica-tions, etc., for the opening, widening and extension of Broadway (formerly Fort street) from Ninth street to the west line of Main street.

The matter proceeded in the usual course until September 29, 1890, when the City Council adopted ordinance, $20, which provided for the appointment of C. M. Wells, J. W. Hinton and J. N. Book as Commissioners to assess cost, damages, etc.

which provided for the appointment of C. M. Wells, J. W. Hinton and J. N. Book as Commissioners to assess cost, damages, etc.

When J. W. Hinton received notice of his appointment he signified his intention of resigning as the duties of the position would interfere with his personal business. This fact coming to the knowledge of Mr. Rader he began a still hunt to secure the soon-to-be-vacated place. In this connection he wass advised that he could not be appointed legally as he owned property within the limits of the district which would be affected by the proposed improvement. To meet this obstacle he transferred on October 20, 1890, the south forty-two and eleven-twelfths feet in lot 3, block 2½, Ord's survey, situated on Broadway, between First and Second streets and on which the Newell & Rader Block stands, to his business partner, H. T. Newell for a stated consideration of $13,000 (see Book of Deeds 671, p. 171, County Recorder's offies.)

November 10, 1890, J. W. Hinton tendered his resignation as Commisioner to the City Council and that body by special ordinance 328 appointed Frank Rader, J. H. Book and C. M. Wells) struggled with the problem of the extension and opening of Broadway, and then filed their final report, assessing the district affected to the amount of $28,657.20, and the south forty-two and eleven-twelfths feet of lot three, block two and one-half, Ord's survey (on which the, Newell & Rader Block stands $81.10, which sum was paid by H. T. Newell on May 19, 1892.

Further reference to the report of the commissioner, the sum of $400.

On July 13, 1892, reference to book of deeds $12, page 174, shows that H. T. Newell deeded to Frank Rader the south forty-two and eleven-twelfths feet of lot three, block two and one-half, Ord's survey, for a stated consideration of $10,000, which would indicate that frontage on Broadway between first and Second streets had deprecised $2000 in value between the date of the transfer from Newell to Rader, on July 13, 1892.
